

IDEATHON

DHAARANI.G

19BCS035S

- 1. Analyzing the right people for the right job using their resume during their submission of application to the company. So, there is less chance for employees to leave the company.
- 2. Collecting individual's information who is joining the company through survey so that we can do analysis on it to select the right employees for the company.
- 3. If the reason for why the employee is leaving the company is identified. The accuracy rate for why the employee is leaving the company can be determined. So that might lead to appropriate decisions
- 4. Using historical data of employees who already left the company to find the reason for attrition that is happening currently.